It was one of those days when God was creating the earth. He was working on Texas as darkness fell at the end of the day, and He had to quit. He gave the Great Plains of West Texas a smoothing stroke and said to Himself, "In the morning I'll come back and make it pretty like the rest of the world, with lakes and streams and mountains and trees." But the next morning when He returned, it had hardened like concrete. As He thought about having to tear it all down and make it over, He had a happy thought. "I know what I'll do," He said "I'll just make some people who like it this way."

And that is how it came about that the people who live in the Panhandle like it this way.

WHAT DOES THE AMARILLO

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DO?

The Amarillo Chamber of Commerce was established in 1926 to be the leader for the improvement of the economy of Amarillo. Our aim in supplying this leadership is to improve all segments of the area economy by stimulating not only economic expansion, but also growth and improvement in cultural, social, educational, environmental, and governmental services in the region. Our emphasis is on action by our voluntary business members to accomplish specific results. Programs are designed to implement short-term as well as long-term plans and actions. Our philosophy is to produce results in the improvement of the area economy and the quality of life by providing a platform for volunteer leadership to carry out specific programs and projects to build a better Amarillo.

Some people think we gather statistics; others believe we print brochures. Many of you know we assist with business retention and expansion. People involved in tourism know that we answer inquiries and advertise our city. All of these beliefs are right to an extent, but even saying that the Chamber does all those things reflects only a portion of the work of the Chamber. Consequently, we welcome the question. We want you to understand the mission of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce.

You are the Chamber of Commerce. You provide the ideas; you provide the drive and the goals. Without you, we wouldn't have the funds and the voluntary services that keep the Chamber successfully serving as a catalyst to make things happen for the good of the community. And without you and your membership, who would do all the things the Chamber does?

We wish that every citizen had the confidence that they could make a difference in our city; that every individual believed they could speak and be heard regarding the laws we pass, the quality of our education, and the extent of our city's services. We like to think the Chamber members do have that confidence. Perhaps the members have never testified before the Legislature or attended a school board meeting or conferred with a mayor...but through their membership and their communications with the Chamber, they do. We listen to our membership and we work to meet our members' needs.

We tend to think that the function of the Chamber is to serve as a catalyst – a vehicle that brings all the parts together – in order for businesspeople to work together in a coordinated effort for the common goals of the community.

A healthy business community must have an aggressive advocate to represent its interests. The Chamber works with our members and other groups to keep Amarillo's economic conditions at a level where businesspeople are willing to risk their resources here in hopes of making a profit.

The profitable operations of business allow all other benefits to occur. And only by succeeding in this goal can we provide the jobs and produce the wealth to finance government, civic, educational, cultural, and charitable concerns that our community needs every day. Through the profitable operations of business, other businesspeople are influenced to risk their hard-earned money and invest in business here in Amarillo.

So, you are probably asking yourself, "who does all this?" The Chamber has a very small staff and the correct response is that we serve as a facilitator to help "you do it." You, the Chamber members and the business and professional individuals who care enough about Amarillo to support the Chamber with a membership, are the ones who "do it."

HEALTH at the heart OF AMARILLO.

In 1972, the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center campus in Amarillo started with a vision and a will to serve. Today, we continue our legacy as we meet the needs of the Texas Panhandle and beyond. TTUHSC graduates more health care professionals than any university in the state of Texas. We aim to instill the same values into our students, our TTUHSC family and the communities we serve. As we continue to provide jobs, treat patients with quality health care and help improve our local economy, we will keep pushing forward to transform health care through innovation and collaboration.

Your life is our purpose, and it's our promise to Amarillo.

STANDING AS TALL AS THE CROWN OF THE TEXAS PANHANDLE

Amarillo is the center of the 26-county Panhandle region. It has over 190,000 residents and the population for Potter and Randall County surpasses 249,000. As a crossroads for Interstate 40 between Oklahoma City and Albuquerque, as well as Dallas- to-Denver traffic, Amarillo is the hub for major north-south and east-west transportation.

Under skies which are sunny or partly sunny 351 days a year and a temperature that averages 59 degrees, golf and many other outdoor activities are common year-round. With its magnificent sunsets and glowing hospitality, Amarillo is truly a jewel across a region of Texas known as the “Golden Spread.”

Amarillo was settled in the spring of 1887. The Fort Worth & Denver City Railroad was building diagonally across the Panhandle of Texas southeast to northwest; the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe northeast to southwest. At their intersection, somewhere south of the Canadian River, a great cattle shipping market was inevitable. Trail driving days were over. It became apparent the shipping center would be southeast of the Fort Worth & Denver City’s Amarillo Creek crossing, as far north on the Plains as possible and yet keeping clear of the Canadian River. Washburn had a geographical advantage, but personal energy centered attention on the Amarillo site.

A PLACE CALLED RAGTOWN

The Amarillo business center, which was originally called Ragtown, was laid out near the present intersection of Bowie and West 4th. Town-site promoters paid the State of Texas $1,280 for 640 acres of school land.

The name Amarillo, which means yellow in Spanish, was probably chosen because of the color of the sub-soil in nearby Amarillo Creek. In the early days most houses were painted yellow in honor of the name.

A county courthouse was built in 1888 of brick made from the Amarillo Creek. The original court house square was bounded by Travis, Bowie, Fourth and Fifth streets in “Old Town.” The railroad depot was south of the tracks between Ong and Lipscomb. Stockyards and loading chutes were northwest of the present downtown area. Amarillo soon sported a post office, hotel, stores, saloon, dwellings and one or two windmills.

KNOWN FOR A TIME AS A CITY ON

WHEELS

In 1889 the town began to move, mostly on wheels, to the Glidden & Sanborn addition a mile to the east. The depot was hauled to Polk and First. The Amarillo Hotel, a large wooden structure, was built at Polk and Third. By 1890 businesses and houses were strung along Polk and Taylor. The first public utility was a water supply system from a windmill and tanks at the Sanborn homestead.

The “Old Town” remained officially at the courthouse until an election in May 1893 moved it to the Glidden and Sanborn addition. County offices were rented in the business center and books and records were carried back and forth.

FROM WHISTLE STOP TO CITY

By 1910 the population of Amarillo had grown to 9,957. In 1913 Amarillo wrote its own charter as authorized that year by the Texas Legislature. The charter was favored by 657 and opposed by 169 at the election on November 13.

Under this charter Amarillo was the first city in the Southwest, and the fifth in the United States, to adopt the Commission- Manager form of government.

THE IRON HORSE

Industry in Amarillo began with railroads, cattle and merchandising. The first Fort Worth & Denver City passenger train arrived in Amarillo in March of 1888 from Clarendon, which was the former terminal. Construction was completed to Texline where the Fort Worth & Denver

City connected with the Colorado and Southern. The two companies, with a system reaching from Wyoming to the Gulf of Mexico, were now consolidated into the Burlington System. In 1928 the Fort Worth & Denver City built a network of railroads on the South Plains that greatly benefits Amarillo. In 1931 they began building from Childress to Pampa.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe stopped building when it reached the town of Panhandle in 1887 but brought its trains to Amarillo over the Fort Worth & Denver City tracks by way of a “topline” connecting Panhandle and Washburn.

The Pecos Valley & North Eastern, known locally as the Pea Vine, built into Amarillo from Roswell in 1898. That same year it came under control of the A.T. & S.F. which started its through-train service from the east to Roswell and westward in August 1899. The A.T. & S.F. built connecting linkage from Panhandle to Amarillo in 1908, and continued south to Sweetwater in 1911, northeast to Borger in 1926, and north toward Los Animas as far as Boise City in 1931.

The Cheyenne, Oklahoma & Western, nicknamed the “Cow Track,” built into Amarillo from the east in 1902. It soon took control of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific and extended construction to Tucumcari in 1904 and built northeast to Liberal in 1928.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST CATTLE SHIPPING MARKET

CATTLE

From 1888 and into the early 1890's Amarillo became the world's greatest cattle shipping market, a position held until the railroad through to Roswell intercepted shipments of vast herds formerly driven from the south to Amarillo. At times 50,000 head were within sight of town. Herds often were held for two weeks at the water holes and on the prairie waiting for railroad cars to haul them away.

Hereford cattle breeding was started in 1877 by Col. Charles Goodnight and Judge O.H. Nelson, who brought registered bulls to the Panhandle and mixed them with native Longhorns. Interbred herds developed a distinctive Panhandle beef, inheriting Longhorn hardiness and Hereford beef quality. From the beginning, Amarillo was the center of this industry.

AGRICULTURE

No crops were grown in early cattle days. A steer could be raised on the open range for the cost of a chicken. But with the fencing of the ranges and improved cattle grades, the growing of fodder, sorghum and millet began as early as 1890. Around the turn of the century, following early fodder experiments, wheat planting began. The Panhandle area eventually developed into a major wheat belt of America.

Today the region produces grain sorghum, cotton, vegetables and other crops.

AMARILLO FIRSTS

Amarillo's first newspaper was the Amarillo Northwestern founded in 1887 by D.F. Rudolph; it was followed by the Amarillo Champion in 1889, founded by H.H. Brooks.

When the printing office was moved from "Old Town" in 1896, the building displayed many bullet holes, mementos of early day "shoot outs." The third newspaper, and only survivor of the pioneer days, was the Amarillo News founded in 1892 by J.L. Caldwell.

The first schoolhouse was built in 1889 near a lake in the vicinity of Van Buren and Eighth. West Texas State University at Canyon was founded in 1909, and Amarillo College in 1929. Scheduled airplane transportation began on June 19, 1929 and air mail service on July 1, 1930.

Gas was discovered in September 1918, two miles north of Amarillo in the Hapgood well. This has grown to be the world's second largest gas field; pipelines deliver Panhandle gas as far away as the Atlantic seaboard, creating the world's largest natural gas development.

Black Gold (petroleum) was discovered on May 2, 1920 by Gulf Production Company on the Burk Burnett 6666 Ranch.

Natural gas and petroleum, found within an hour's drive of Amarillo, gave rise to many of the city's major industries.

STATISTICS FROM THE US BUREAU OF LABOR

Amarillo, September 2021

Few cities Amarillo's size can boast of such a diverse economic base. From oil and gas production, agriculture, precious metal refining, aircraft production and just about every industry in between, Amarillo enjoys a wide array of business. The Amarillo Economic Development Corporation aggressively recruits new industry. Efforts by Amarillo EDC, the City of Amarillo and other entities were major reasons that Bell selected Amarillo as the site for its Tiltrotor Assembly Center. This and other new economic development is possible thanks to the foresight of voters to pass a .25 percent city tax used exclusively to fund industrial recruiting efforts.

Agriculture, which helped build Amarillo, remains a major economic factor. The Panhandle is the Cattle Feeding Capital of the World, producing more than five million fed cattle a year, or 30 percent of the nation's supply. The region has four major packing facilities, as well as other beef fabrication operations. Ranching has always been huge. Wheat, corn, grain sorghum, cotton and a growing swine industry make agriculture a $5 billion-plus industry that employs more than 50,000 Panhandle men and women.

EDUCATION

Amarillo Independent School District students are offered a quality academic program and a well-rounded extra-curricular program in the district's 37 elementary schools, 12 middle schools, 4 high schools, 1 alternative school, a specialty high school, and the AmTech Career Academy.

Eighteen miles south of Amarillo is the city of Canyon. The Canyon Independent School District serves two communities, Canyon and Amarillo. The district covers a large area, which encompasses 732 square miles. The north end of the district has 8 campuses in south Amarillo that offer immediate access to city amenities, while those in the city of Canyon offer a small-town atmosphere with easy access to the city. In the city of Canyon there are 5 campuses, and 2 campuses are located in between the two cities.

Three additional school districts border the city of Amarillo, including Bushland, Highland Park and River Road Independent School Districts. They each include 1 elementary school, 1 middle school and 1 high school. There are 9 private schools available in the City of Amarillo.

Students seeking higher education flock to Amarillo College, a vibrant, multi-faceted community college that typically enrolls more than 10,000 students in academic classes at six campuses and an outreach center. Using a proven blend of quality and affordability, Amarillo College provides students with a solid academic foundation in about 160 programs of study, whether they are looking to immediately enter the workforce or proceed to a university. The cost of attending Amarillo College is approximately one-third that of the cost of a public university in Texas, and it is by law that AC credits transfer to Texas' public universities.

West Texas A&M University is located in Canyon, Texas, on a 342-acre residential campus. Established in 1910, WT has been part of The Texas A&M University System since 1990. The University, a Hispanic Serving Institution since 2016, boasts an enrollment of about 10,000 and offers 59 undergraduate degree programs, 39 master's degrees and two doctoral degrees. The University is also home to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum, the largest history museum in the state and the home of one of the Southwest's finest art collections. The Buffaloes are a member of the NCAA Division II Lone Star Conference and offers 14 men's and women's athletics programs. Currently, WT is engaged in the historic five-year, $125 million One West comprehensive fundraising campaign that fuels the University's long-range plan, WT 125: From the Panhandle to the World. WT offers select upper-level and graduate classes in downtown Amarillo at Harrington Academic Hall. This facility is a great asset to WT as it provides classroom experience and services for students and the community in Amarillo, and is now the headquarters for the WTAMU Department of Nursing.

The Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center at Amarillo provides education for medical students and residents, and is the only campus in the United States with a Medical, Pharmaceutical, Veterinary and soon to be expanded Nursing school all on one campus.

Amarillo is also home to a branch of Wayland Baptist University which offers a variety of courses.

HEALTHCARE

Amarillo has some of the nation's finest healthcare facilities. From the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center to a regional Amarillo VA Health Care System, these facilities serve Amarillo, the Panhandle and residents of four bordering states. BSA's Health Care System, Northwest Texas Healthcare System, the Pavilion Hospital and Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center are among facilities served by physicians, dentists and many others in specialty fields.

Some 80 medical specialties and 100 surgical specialties are practiced in the health care community. Many facilities are based at the Harrington Regional Medical Campus, located in the northwest corner of Amarillo. The Medical Campus is an alliance that includes more than 30 facilities and agencies which are individually motivated, yet jointly committed, to providing high-quality, accessible health care for a region that includes the Texas Panhandle and four neighboring states, an area larger than 25,500 square miles.

AMARILLO ARTS AND CULTURE

The Globe-News Center for the Performing Arts houses a 1,279-seat auditorium, rehearsal/education room, and a spacious multi-level lobby. It is designed with acoustical excellence in mind and serves as a landmark in downtown Amarillo. An average of 100 performances are held each year, with many being produced and presented by resident companies that include the Amarillo Symphony, Amarillo Opera and Lone Star Ballet. In addition, the Window On a Wider World programs provide enriched education to Texas Panhandle students through the arts, science and cultural experiences. It currently serves more than 15,000 elementary children.

The Sybil B. Harrington Fine Arts Complex at West Texas A&M University in Canyon is the premier educational and performance facility in the Texas Panhandle. The Fine Art Complex (FAC) is home to the University's music, theatre and communications programs. Main stage productions are performed at the Branding Iron Theatre. Adjacent to the FAC is the studio art program located in Mary Moody Northen Hall which houses various art studios including: glass working, sculpture, ceramics, painting, drawing, and graphic design. Also located on the ground floor is the music recital hall, and the Formal Gallery, which features ongoing art exhibitions.

Amarillo College offers two-year programs in the areas of music, theatre and fine art. The Music department includes a chamber orchestra, concert choir, guitar ensemble, jazz band, vocal jazz ensemble and wind ensemble. The Fine Arts department offers a baccalaureate degree in graphic design, photography and art.

The Amarillo Symphony, founded in 1924, currently employs 85 professional musicians. The Amarillo Symphony offers a seven concert subscription series that includes the annual performances of The Nutcracker with the Lone Star Ballet. They also oversee the Amarillo Symphony Youth Orchestra and other educational programs.

The Lone Star Ballet offers a six-performance season subscription that includes the annual production of The Nutcracker and has a resident Professional Company and Studio Company. Lone Star Ballet awards dance scholarships to qualified students at West Texas A&M University and provides six area dance academies with a variety of classes. They also contribute education and performance opportunities for students in Amarillo, the Texas Panhandle and surrounding states.

The Amarillo Little Theatre, established in 1927, is one of the oldest continuously operating community theatres in the country. They offer a diverse collection of theatre productions including five Main Stage productions, four Adventure Space theatre productions, and various special events. In addition, they offer an Amarillo Little Theatre Academy that holds three productions each year.

The Amarillo Opera was founded in 1988 by Mila Gibson. They provide live, community-based opera to the Texas Panhandle. The Amarillo Opera produces four annual productions, two community productions and a multi-cultural event each year.

The Amarillo Museum of Art, opened in 1972 by a group of local community leaders, offers a variety of permanent and temporary exhibitions that include contemporary art, historical shows of American and European master works, 20th Century Modernists, Asian art collections and art from the Museum's private collection. The museum also offers lecture series, gallery talks, video, film and tours.

Civic Amarillo and Celebrity Attractions present the Broadway Spotlight Series each year in the Civic Center Complex Auditorium. The series features national tours, and generally consists of four productions between October and April.

With more arts per capita than any other city in the US, these organizations only scratch the surface of all of arts offerings in Amarillo. See VisitAmarillo.com/arts to learn more.

Your Vision | Our Mission

Local Businesses are the lifeblood of our economy

While attracting new business and industry is the Amarillo EDC's primary mission, we recognize existing businesses are the lifeblood of our economy. Area businesses contribute 40-80% of all new jobs. Through our Business Retention & Expansion (BRE) program, the Amarillo EDC provides support to these local businesses so that they can continue to develop our community and drive our economy.

WELCOME TO AMARILLO

LOCALLY OWNED & OPERATED

WHAT OUR CLIENTS ARE SAYING

I love Triangle Realty. They handled a unique home buying & selling situation with the utmost professionalism. The entire team has worked hard to ensure that our experience wasn't a hassle. We have bought and sold several homes in the last 10 years, and Triangle Realty is by far the best agency that we have worked with. I would highly recommend them to anyone.
